are placed into an art context and made part of an artwork; what we now call "the readymade" is an updated version of that idea.

The History of the Found Object in Art | Art for Sale ...

Found object is a loan translation from the French objet trouvé, describing art created from undisguised, but often modified, objects or products that are not normally considered materials from which art is made, often because they already have a non-art function. Pablo Picasso first publicly utilized the idea when he pasted a printed image of chair caning onto his painting titled Still Life with Chair Caning. Marcel Duchamp is thought to have perfected the concept several years later when ...
