3.1 Process Concept. A process is an instance of a program in execution. Batch systems work in terms of "jobs". Many modern process concepts are still expressed in terms of jobs, (e.g. job scheduling), and the two terms are often used interchangeably.

3.1.1 The Process. Process memory is divided into four sections as shown in Figure 3.1 below:

Operating Systems: Processes

After the client chooses one concept, it is time to revise the design so it meets the goals and outlines. The client may want you to mix and match from all concepts you have presented, or come up with something entirely new. From comments and suggestions, you can present another round of designs.
